

EOC Employees Spend An Unforgettable Day at the NFL

"Raiders are going down," exclaimed one eager Colts fan. "Not if our team can help it," replied a proud Raiders fan. The trash talking started early as 116 enthusiastic football fans made their way to northern California to witness the Indianapolis Colts take down the Raiders ... or the Oakland Raiders take down the Colts — depends who you're asking.

"Our bus, bus one, was a friendly yet hostile melting pot of Raiders and Colts fans," explains IT Technician Robert Cardenas. "It was a great way for all of us to get pumped up before the game ... and I'm a 49er fan!"

Watching the game, a delight to Colts' fans who saw their team take a 21 to 14 victory over the Raiders, was just part of the experience.

The day ended with a less tantalizing and more subdued ride home as football revelers relished in an action-packed day.
